Closed all day Monday--Open late Saturday night for convenience of patrons.

No let-up to the bargains; No let-up to the crowds at Hechts'.

As we stated here in these columns yesterday, the Baltimore Bargain House's shipping facilities are limited since the fire, and hence we have not received all the salvage merchandise which we secured even yet. Every hour of every day it is arriving and as rapidly as it arrives we are putting it on sale. Therefore, you cannot afford to stay away a single day, for new lots, despite being large lots, do not hold out long against the buying which follows the offering of them.

Again today the store has almost been overwhelmed with buyers, and tomorrow, because of the store being closed on Monday and because of the need for merchandise and wearables for the Fourth, we expect the greatest day of the week.

We are "charging" purchases when the buyer desires them "charged," and we are arranging terms of payment to suit. Though salvage stock of a hig fire, there is real a single article which is hurt in any way, and we offer to take back any purchase you make which does not prove satisfactory.

Last reduction men's winter suits.

We have made two lots of all that's left of the men's heavyweight suits and offer them at less than they cost to buy at wholesale. They are all suits which were made for us-have all the points of perfection which are characteristic of Hechts' clothing. The offering is a splendid opportunity.

$7.50 for suits which sold up to $17.50. $12.75 for suits which sold up to $25.

$1.98 for pants which sold up to $4.50. $2.98 for all finer grades, no matter what they sold for.

Ready with the men's spring hats.

Every day new lots are arriving, and the assortment is now almost complete—complete enough now for easy selection. Two dollars here will buy the usual $3 hats in new golf shape, straight-brims and Fedoras, in pearl, steel, ofter black, and brown, and derbys in all new shapes and shades.

The variety in children's hats is also complete, and is as large as can be found in this city. 25c to $1.00.

A CREEK INDIAN LYNCHED.

Vigorous Measures to Be Used to Punish the Participants.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., March 1.—United States Marshal Bennet has received a despatch from Deputy Kasse, at Holdenville, I. T., announcing that a mob took from him Johnson Miller, a Creek Indian, and hanged him to a tree near that place Wednesday night. Deputy Kasse had ar-rested Miller on a charge of being implicated in the murder of Herbert McDade on the night of December 22.

McDade was staying with his brother t Holdenville. He went out on a hunt for cattle and next day his body was found in the mountains. He had been shot and an attempt had been made to burn the body. Charles Kernal was arrested early in January had been made to be the body.

burn the body. Charles Kernal was arrested early in January, charged with being connected with the killing and is now in fall here. Miller had succeeded in chiding the officers until his arrest by Deputy Kasse.

This is said to be the first lynching in the Indian Territory, and Marshal Bennet has instructed Deputy Kasse to use every possible effort to arrest every man connected with it and take them before United States Commissioner Tate, at Wewoka, I. T., for preliminary examination on a charge of murder.

One Choked Into Insensibility and the Other Knocked Down.

HYATTSVILLE, Md., March 1.-Albert C. Fulsom, who lives about one mile cast of Brightseat, this county, had an exciting experience with burglars. Wednesday night. Fulsom was seated in the sitting-room, when a knock was heard at thing to eat. Fulsom told the men he had no money, but would gladly give them something to eat. This did not satisfy them, and they forced their way into the room and proceeded through the house.

In the exportation of malt liquors there is a slight decrease, also in starch, marble, soaps, and fertilizers. In all the other cases in the forty principal classes of exportations of manufactures an increase is shown, and in many cases a large increase. Iron and steel, for instance, show an increase of over $5,000,000 as compared with 1899, and over $45,000,000 as compared with 1899, mineral oils show an increase of about $7,000,000 over 1899; copper, an increase of $14,000,000; agricultural implements, $2,500,000; cottonseed oil, which is officially classified under agricultural products, and not among manufactures, paraffine, scientific instruments, paper and manufactures of paper, and cars for steam railways show an increase of over a million dollars each. One, for instance, is Thackeray's "King Glumpus, an Interlude in One Act." It was printed in 1837, for private circulation only, in an edition so limited that this copy of it and another are the sole survivors of the wear and waste of time known to bibliographers. The British Museum has offered $1.00 for it, vainly. It seems to be-it is-insignificant, a thin

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effectual Cure for It.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs, and difficult breathing, headaches, fickle appetite, nervousness, and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a four taste in the mouth, coated tongue, and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a simy, infamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily. Prof. Thon. Pecket, a prominent school teacher of Tonis Creek, this county, had a narrow escape with his life Wednes-

The core for this common and observations are trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessory thing to do, and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition with have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanson the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastase, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nix, Golden Seal, and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not being a patent medicine, can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough dispestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. J. Booher, Vicence, 111, writes: Shamokin, Pa., writes: "I am eighty years of age. I have been troubled with Catarra for flifty years, and in my time have used a great many catarrh cures, but never had any rain," until I used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. One box cured me completely." 59 cents. Sold by F. S. Williams, Ninth and F Streets, and Edmonds & Williams, Third Street and Pennsylvania Avenue.—13.

gestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. J. Booher, 'Micaye, Ill., writes: 'Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happlest of men after using only one loss of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite, and seand rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartbyrn, and bloating after meals.

Send for little book, mailed free, on stomach troubles, by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. The tablets can be found at all drug stores.

PURCHASES A RARE LIBRARY. pamphlet with two naive illustrations Thackeray's copy of Horace is in the collection. It is a thin, narrow book, bound in calf, and printed at Amsterdam Albert J. book collectors.

There are the first editions of Robert Browning's "Agamemnon" and "Stratford," and a copy of his first publication, privately distributed, "Paullne; Or, Fragment of a Confession," that cost in London $725. There are the privately printed "Letters of Robert Browning to Various Correspondents," enclosing thirteen of the play.

Grimm's "Tales in English," the first edition in the original boards of Cruiksshank's illustration, is in this collection and not elsewhere. Holmes "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," the first edition, has on its fly-leaf the author's inscription, to Bayard Taylor. The "Narrative of James Williams," the escaped slave, written by Whittier and printed in New York in 1838, contains a letter by the great Quaker poet expressing the hope that "Governor David B. Hill has not forgotten how I wrote this narrative in his uncle's home."

There are a poem, "The Dusky Crew," and a story, "My First Adventure," by Rudyard Kipling, that have never been printed. They are in manuscript, signed "Nickson," in the manuscript, signed "Nickson," in the manuscript; "Scribbler," wherein the children of William Morris and of Burne-Jones gathered stories and verses for the delectation of their parents' friends. There is the first edition, in civil service document form, of Kipling's "Departmental Dities," guaranteed by him in his autograph endorsement in February, 1890.

Charles Lamb's "Beauty and the Beast." Grimm's "Tales in English," the first partmental Dities," guaranteed by him in his autograph endorsement in February, 1890.

Charles Lamb's "Beauty and the Beast." "Prince Dorus" and "Poetry for Children" in their original editions are in the collection. There are also proof sheets with the poet's autograph corrections, of Tennyson's "Charge of the Light Brigade," the first edition of the poem with an autograph inscription to Major McCrea, who was in the memorable charge, "magnificent, but not war."

There are Tennyson's "Helen's Tower," privately printed in 1889; "The Saflor Boy," printed in twenty-five copies for the author, by Emily Faithfull & Co., in 1861; "The Promise of May," printed for the author in 1882; a large map'r copy of "Poems by Two Brothers," 1827; "A Welcome to Her Royal Highness, Marie Anexandrovna, Duchess of Edinburgh," in two leaves; "idylis of the Hearth," 1864; "The Last Tournament," 1871; "The Faicon," 1879, printed for the author; "The Cup." 1881, printed for the author; "The Passing of Arthur," 1884; the "Morted Arthur," privately printed, 1866.

There are the invitation to the poet's funeral at Westminster Abbey and the music page of "Crossing the Bar" sung there. There are infinitely precious other gems, in leaves with edges always uncut, with original covers intact, in bindings of faultless artisans. "Is it not sad to have formed this beautiful monument and to see it fall?" Mr. Morgan was asked. "Will it not be said that, since you were weary of it, love of books is vain?" He replied, with smiling philosophy, "No monument that men form is to endure. Love of books is not vainer than the other forms of love."

BURGLARS IN A RECTORY.

New York Thieves Steal Rev. Dr. Huntington's Silver.

NEW YORK, March 1 .- Burglars entered the houes of the Rev. Dr. William R. Huntington, rector of Grace Church at Broadway and Tenth Street, early yesterday morning, and carried away a quantity of silverware, including spoons, forks, salt cellars, and other table silver much of which had been in the family many years, and was chiefly valuable because of the associations. The burglars entered the Grace House, which adjoins the church on the north, by the basement door, the glass of which was broken, s parently went immediately to the safe in the dining-room of the rectory, where the familiar with the premises, as the safe was opened with the key, which had been hidden in the usual place, when the silver was out away the night before away, although Dr. Huntington says that he knows of no one having been up after he went to bed shortly after midnight. When the maid went downstairs in the candle, and a box of matches. A hasty leparture is shown also by the fact that the silver left was much more valuable than that taken. None of the other rooms in the house were entered, and the family, consisting of Dr. Huntington, his son, and sister-in-law, and four servants, were not awakened.

Policeman Zuhr, of the Mercer Street station, who was on duty in the neighborhood of Grace Church from midnight Wednesday until 6 o'clock yesterday norning, said that he knew nothing of the robbery until told of it at the station last evening. The watchmen at Wantaker's, the St. Denis Hotel, and McCreery's store were also ignorant of the obbery, and all knowledge of the crime was denied at police headquarters.

Dr. Huntington says that be informed the police of the Mercer Street station Dr. Huntington says that he informed he police of the Mercer Street station early in the day, but at the station last night it was said that no robbery had been heard of there. There is apparent reason to doubt this statement, however, as policemen on duty in the precinct last night said that before they were sent cut at 6 o'clock Captain Chapman from a coign of vantage in the stationhouse delivered a stirring lecture on the duty of the force to protect citizens from loss by robbery, and made especial mention of Dr. Huntington's case.
